RESPONSE TO REQUIREMENT UNDER 35 USC § 121

Applicant hereby elects claims 1 and 18 - 26 drawn to a dental methods.

Applicant respectfully traverses the requirement as the method involves using a micronail having a head as claimed, the product claims including using retention structure. As such, it is believed that the process is not for use with a materially different product but instead requires particulars of the product as claimed in the product claims. With regard to the further requirement for an election of species, Applicant requests reconsideration in view of it not being clear how the various elements of the combination represent different species. It is Applicant's position that the various elements represent different aspects of the combination and not alternative species. For example, the retention structure or retention element can include both the head as a pressed stud, the ringer cap and a perforating portion.

In order to be responsive, Applicant hereby elects the Species B-ringer cap with claims

1, 18, 19, 20, 22, 23, 25 and 26 being readable thereon. Nevertheless, Applicant respectfully requests consideration of all method claims and additionally requests examination of all claims in view of the close relationship between the method and product. Further, as a single search can be performed to consider all aspects of the invention and in view of the close relationship between the method and the product, consideration of all claims is believed to be proper.

Favorable action on the merits is requested.

Respectfully submitted
for Applicant,
